Political Reminiscences of Some of New York's Well-

Thomas Boese Describes the Birth and Tammany Hall Illuminated with Brimstone Matches and Candles.

John Kelly's Famous Run for Congress Against Mike Walsh.

In the dim vista of past New York muni cipal politics there rises at summons, to the memory of some of the older inhabitants, a youthful figure, but one of great prom nence in its day.

It stands forth equally distinct on mem ory's pages with those other prominen figures of the time "Prince John" Van Buren, the courtly Lucius Robinson Samuel J. Tilden, Fernando Wood, Augus tus Schell, Wilson Small and the great Tanmany leader, John Kelly.

All these are dead, but that other figure still remains a part and parcel of municipal politics, though no longer youthful,

Thomas Boese was born almost within the shadow of the City Hall and old Tammany Hall, then standing on the corner of Frank. iantly illuminated, and Small and his fort and Nassan streets.

THE DARKNESS.

His earliest associations were with poli ncians, for he lived in the very centre of political activity, and every good American citizen was a thorough and active politician in those early days.

He witnessed and participated in most of the events since 1840, which have since become part of the city's political history.

Mr. Boese is probably the oldest office holder in point of service in the municipal ity. Forty years ago he was Clerk of the Common Pleas, and for many, many years he has been Chief Clerk of the Superior

THE EVENING WORLD reporter called on him in his office, high up in the new Court House, and asked him for a political reminiscence.

The result was wonderful. It was like disturbing a hive of bees. A flood of memories had been stirred within that pleasant gentleman's teeming brain, and soon there gushed forth such a stream of anecdote as would delight a historian of New York Tilden one of John Kelly and Tweed, his regime and his helpers in the work of plundering the city-all these and minor ancedotes sentative from the Thirteenth Ward, to concerning them tripped in rapid succes bring the matter before the Board of sion from Mr. Boese's tongue.

It would be manifestily unfair to a gen tleman who has witnessed the rise and fall of politicians and himself participated in political affairs for nearly half a century as has Mr. Boese, to confine his relation to one incident. He began his ancedotes with the birth of the Locofoco party in 1837, and the incident which caused the party to be

"It was the usual fight between the Knit socks and the Silk-stockings in Tammany Hall, the latter bitterly opposing these newfangled ideas that the ideas were popular with the common prorde, and the young faction waxed strong. "It had been meeting at Military Hall, they were nothing but those long brimstonecovered sticks which required an outfit to light them! These matches were known as locofocos."

"The Silk-stockings proposed to turn the gas off, and cause a stampede from the meeting.

"Wilson Small learned this, and in structed his followers to prepare themselves with a candle each, and 'locofoco' matches.

"The night of the meeting came. It was vident that the Military Hall forces were in the majority, and would indorse their own candidates unless something was done "The gas was turned out accordingly, and the minority party made a rush for the
